The alarming regularity, with which Goa State Pollution Control Board's public hearing on Mormugao Port Trust's West of Breakwater project is getting cancelled on technical grounds, is raising serious doubts about whether it is serious to have a public centric debate on Vasco's health at all.

On Sunday last, another public hearing on MPT's ambitious West of Breakwater project ended up in a naught, as GSPCB had failed to place copies of EIA reports in libraries and Municipal / Panchayat for public inspection under Section 2.4 of EIA notification 2006.

The reason although trivial speaks volumes of the Pollution Control Board's increasing restlessness and sloppiness in conducting public hearings for MPT in the face of growing criticism that while it has failed to hold public hearings for the much polluting coal berth no. 10 and 11, it is more keen to hold public hearing for West of Breakwater project.

"We have already submitted our written objections before GSPCB and MPT.

Since GSPCB had not complied with legal requirement of EIA notification 2006, GSPCB is to be blamed for delay and not the people," explains Vasokar United Forum Convener Bharat Kamat.

Kamat and his colleagues have in recent times been leading the charge to enforce stringent coal pollution curbing measures on MPT.

Kamat's fellow campaigner Savio Correia was responsible for pointing out simple yet pertinent point in the law that the Environmental Impact Assess-

➤ There were so many lacunas while conducting the public consultation hearing. Though, I chaired the meeting I could not proceed until all legal formalities laid down in EIA notification 2006 was compiled by GSPCB. ment report should have been put up for public view.

"Certain legal non-compliance of minor nature shouldn't lead to adjournment of a meeting.

Public consultation hearing should have been continued. We had given the EIA report to Mormugao Municipal Council," said Dr Mohan Girap, scientist at Goa State pollution Control Board.

"How could a Council that has a public library fail to put the EIA report for public scrutiny is a matter of investigation. But what is emerging is that there is a sinister plan to bypass the proceedings," the scientist said.

"With so many adjournments, we have an apprehension that MPT might approach the Ministry of Environment and Forests or Centre Pollution Control Board to by-pass public consultation hearing," a worried Advocate T. T. Shreedharan said.

AAI DADAGIRI AT DABOLIM AIRPORT?

SAGUN GAWADE

NAVIN JHA / THE GOAN

Under the cover of maintaining traffic inflow at Dabolim airport terminal, the Airport Authority of India, Goa chapter has been charging "parking" fees for vehicles which come to pick up or drop people at the airport. Since last three years the AAI has engaged a contractor to collect parking fees of Rs 60 for cars and Rs 295 for coaches in the parking lot constructed by AAI on PWD land. After initial protest by the local taxi operators and after the intervention of the then Tourism Minister, Mickey Pacheco the issue was resolved but few months later AAI managed to give a back door entry to the system. In the new system a person entering the airport with a vehicle has to accept a token with time restriction of 5 minutes. Those who manage to come out within five minutes do not have to pay anything. But those who exceed the limit have to pay a fine of Rs 60 for cars and Rs 350 for coaches. This system has upset almost everyone who enters the airport. Many times locals have refused to take the time bound token. But a new comer or those who do not know about the system is forced to pay Rs 60 considered to be parking charges. What is more surprising is that if anyone dares to challenge the system and refuses to pay, the traffic cops do the rest of the work for the contractor. "We feel sorry for those who are victimized by the horrifying attitude of the people who issue time bound tokens. The tourists, private cars owners are the worst sufferers," said Dominic Mascarenhas, the General Secretary of Tourist Taxi Union of Dabolim airport. When someone comes to drop a passenger or family members to the airport it invariably takes more than 10 minutes for security check or there may be some other problems like traffic congestion. "Despite people's protest AAI continue with its token system and indirectly harass the public. AAI should stop such activity and instead make life easy for those who visit the airport," said Jayant Jadhav, the Goa Tourism Development Corporation Board director. Ironically even the officer engaged by the contractor (M/S Garuda Aviation Service Private Limited) to issue the tokens has to face taunts from the public. "The system is useless as although we issue tokens to more than 1200 people every day, only 15 to 20 pay up rest all curse and move without paying," said Ramakant Velip the officer who is engaged to issue the token.
