Population: 1,39,000

Municipal area: 10.58 sq.km.

Name of local government:
Tinsukia Municipal Board

Tinsukia was originally the capital city of the Muttack Kingdom which was founded by Swargadeo Sarbananda Singha. Once considered as the commercial capital of Assam, Tinsukia today is a major trading hub for tea gardens, oil industries, coal fields, agricultural goods and related support businesses. Tinsukia District was at a time one of the biggest contributors to the exchequer and had played key role in undocumented Corporate Social Responsibilities (CSR) through OIL companies and tea gardens. Tinsukia is best known for its quality tea production.
