Since 2012, there has been a significant rise in the number of forest communities and villages demanding community forest resource rights (CFRR). As more forest communities demand the right to take charge of their forests, state governments and the forest bureaucracy remain reluctant to let go. We invite you to a two-day Regional Media Briefing Workshop in Bhubaneswar for a discussion on the subject.

The workshop is being jointly organised by the CSE Media Resource Centre and Vasundhara, and is based on a recent cover story by Down To Earth.

PLEASE NOTE

- Travel and boarding-lodging of all shortlisted participants will be arranged and paid for by CSE.
- There are limited seats in the programme, and interested journalists are requested to apply immediately.
- CSE's decision on selection of participants will be final.
